Chuck taylor all star eco-friendly

Converse is one of America's most iconic footwear companies. Providing people around the world with sneakers for over 100 years, the brand is considered cool and classic.

Brand eco-friendly choices

The Converse shoe , owned by Nike, is currently using some eco-friendly materials including: organic and recycled cotton and polyester.

The characteristics of Chuck Taylor all star

If you are looking for a way to be more sustainable and protect the environment, the new Chuck Taylors have arrived, made from plastic bottles.

Converse aims to create shoes using post-consumer and post-industrial waste. The silhouettes retain the original canvas feel, but their uppers and laces are made with recycled polyester that comes from plastic bottles.

why choose converse?

They are eco-friendly, they use recycled products to produce the Converse shoe and they do not use down, fur, exotic animal skin, exotic animal hair, or angora

Don't waste any more time and help the planet as Converse is doing
