

Green Day Wake Me Up When September Ends

Summer has come and The innocent can never last wake me when September ends like my father's come to pass seven has gone so fast wake me up when September ends here comes the again falling from the stars drenched in my pain becoming who we

as my rests
but never forgets I lost
wake me up when September ends

summer has come and passed the innocent can last
wake me up when September ends

ring out the again like we did when began
wake me up when September ends

here comes the rain again falling from the drenched in pain again becoming we are

as my rests
but never forgets I lost
wake me up when September ends

Summer has come and passed The can never last
wake me up when September ends

Like my father's come to pass
..... years has gone so fast
wake me up when September ends
wake me up when September ends
wake me up when September ends

1. Listen to the song and complete the lyrics with the missing words.

2. Answer the following questions:

A. Is the song happy or sad?
Underline words in the lyrics to support your idea.

B. September may here represent the time when you realise that nothing can last forever – especially good things. It's a realization that can depress you enough to make you want to sleep for an entire month.

- What do you think about it?
- Do you feel the same? / Have you ever felt the same?
- Can you find anything positive in a time like this?
- Is there anything good in September?
